

Three Essential Plays: Car Door Shave, Gambling Fever, Neither God Nor Master

By Lance Tait

Theatre Metropole Books, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 133 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The volume opens with the comedy Car Door Shave, set in the Hobo Jungle on the outskirts of Ventura, California, in 1984. There, the de facto leader of the semi-permanent homeless encampment, the Vietnam veteran Cappy, basks in relative freedom and touts a philosophy of life that is informed by the writing of sexologist Wilhelm Reich. One day equilibrium in the camp is threatened when a number of people show up: a young woman looking for her birth-mother, a county social worker snooping around to see what is exactly going on in the camp, a couple of archconservatives who want to plow the camp under, and a woman who s just been released early from prison and who says she only has come to pick up her stuff. There is more: Huey, a 30 year-old immigrant from Southeast Asia, lives in the camp solely because she is in love with Cappy (the love is not returned). Also, Kevin, who is second-in-command, is battling AIDS though most in silence. A surprise appearance by the ghost of a...

READ ONLINE
[4.09 MB]

Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Ally Reichel

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS