Scholarly Research Paper from the year 2006 in the subject Law - Comparative Legal Systems, Comparative Law, grade: A-, Victoria University of Wellington (Faculty of Law), 47 entries in the bibliography, language: English, comment: LLM Research Paper, Master Abschlussarbeit, abstract: Indigenous people often know a lot about the healing properties or other useful characteristics of their indigenous plants. This knowledge usually has been passed on within the indigenous community from generation to generation and is therefore regarded as traditional knowledge. This traditional knowledge is of great value for the pharmaceutical industry. Accordingly, it has been explored, used as the basis for subsequently patented inventions, and sometimes misappropriated by pharmaceutical companies from the developed world. This essay seeks to provide an overview of the problems and issues that arise where traditional knowledge meets the Western intellectual property regime. The questions that are sought to be answered are: Why should traditional knowledge be protected as intellectual property and how could this be done Many approaches have been made, both on an international and a national level. Several of these solutions will be presented and discussed in this...
